Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1500 on Friday 21 May 2021

UK Outlook for Saturday 5 Jun 2021 to Saturday 19 Jun 2021:
Confidence is low for this period, but it is most likely that dry weather will continue across the UK, especially in southern and eastern areas. There is still a possibility of more unsettled weather making its way into the country, bringing rain and strong winds. If this occurs then it is most likely to affect areas in the north and northwest. Temperatures are likely to return to near average overall, with warm days but cooler nights.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.